December 2022

From the Minister's study—

Advent & Christmas 2022

Our Border Terrier, Valdo, is now an eight-month-old puppy, still learning some important words. One such word is “come”. Oh, he actually knows what it means but, as a truly stubborn and strong-willed terrier, he does not always heed the call! He only does so when we add the word “snoepje” which in Dutch means “sweet” or “treat”. He will then look at us as if making up his mind before making a dash for us. We have had to teach him another word, “wait,” which is not easy for him as he sits expectantly to get his treat or his food. Now let me say something about these two words, “come” and “wait,” which we say and hear a lot during the season of Advent and Christmas.

Christians around the world look forward with expectation to the coming of Jesus more than 2000 years ago and at the same time are also reminded that we wait for a “second” coming, which, however it is interpreted, is an expression of our hope for a future of peace and justice. So, the past is coming to us in Christmas celebrations as we journey towards the future full of promise.

A danger, however, is the possibility that we can focus too much on the past or dwell too much in the future. The real opportunity is for us to reflect on how we live more fully and more faithfully in the present as we move between past and future. We live between what we have received and what we hope for.

Whether we are people of faith or not, certain things come to us rather than that we are always going somewhere, towards something. This may be a lesson worth noting in our world where we are taught to believe that if we need or want something we must always go after it, rather than “waiting” for it to “come” our way.

But the art of waiting is something that is presently in limited supply. Waiting for peace; waiting for reconciliation; waiting for healing; waiting for end of our economic woes. We get impatient with what we see and hear and with what happens in the course of history and all around us, and sometimes in our own lives too.

Many of us are concerned about or impacted by waiting times in the NHS, in getting appointments, in delivery of services, in supply chains, etc. Waiting is not easy, especially in our plug and play, wired and connected world and as we have become accustomed to get what we want instantly or same day or next day in our rushed lives. But are we losing something as we hurry along?

While it is very understandable that we are going after what we need (or want), it can sometimes mean that we have been unable to receive what comes to us. And how we receive what comes to us does determine how we live in the present and shape our views of the future. Certainly, what “comes” to us can be both good and bad and, very often, surprising.

Just like Christmas always comes as a surprise. For “Who would think that what was needed to transform and save the earth might not be a plan or army, proud in purpose, proved in worth. Who would think, despite derision, that a child should lead the way? God surprises earth with heaven, coming here on Christmas Day.” (Bell and Maule)

In the season of Advent and Christmas we recognize again that the future comes to us with the promise of God’s reign of peace and justice. That is good news in a world presently filled with bad news. And as we look for the signs, and as we ourselves become signs and bearers of good news, we can be assured that Divine “Love came down at Christmas” and still comes to us....watch, wait and be surprised!

Best wishes and blessings for Advent, Christmas and the New Year!

Advent Message: The Shepherds rushed into Bethlehem; we don't have to!

Luke tells us that after the angels had announced the birth of Jesus, the shepherds agreed that they should go into Bethlehem and see for themselves what the Lord had told them about, and so “they went with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the child lying in the manger” (Lk 2:16 NRSV).

Sometimes, as Longfellow put it, “the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small.” It can seem like forever for church life to achieve anything—to make decisions and put them into action, to see change, to bring about growth in our churches. Sometimes, time is exactly what we need to spend to make the right plans and get the right results. Sometimes it simply is better, even if frustrating, to wait, and not rush into action.

On other occasions, it is the opposite that is needed: we've put off making a decision or taking action for long enough, and time is slipping away. If we don't get on with something—anything—there will be none of us left to do it. There is what we call a Kairos moment – that's a Greek New Testament word that means the exact moment of opportunity; precisely the right time for something to be done. If we miss the Kairos moment, we may never get another opportunity.

How do we get the balance right between waiting and acting? There is no simple answer, other than to listen for God speaking through the Holy Spirit. Is God saying, “move; act now,” or “not yet; not that?”

How do we learn to hear God speaking? By practice. By spending time being still and knowing that God is God and asking God to speak and taking time to listen. We learn to hear God by learning to listen.

I was grateful to be reminded this week of Toki Miyashina's paraphrase of Psalm 23:

The Lord is my Pace Setter, I shall not rush,

He makes me stop and rest for quiet intervals,
He provides me with images of stillness,
Which restore my serenity.
He leads me in ways of efficiency,
through calmness of mind; and his guidance is peace.
Even though I have a great many things to accomplish each day,
I will not fret, for his presence is here.
His timelessness, his all-importance will keep me in balance.
He prepares refreshment and renewal in the midst of my activity,
by anointing my head with his oils of tranquility,
My cup of joyous energy overflows.
Surely harmony and effectiveness shall be the fruit of my hours,
For I shall walk in the pace of my Lord,
and dwell in his house for ever.

It's worth remembering, too, that a pace setter has two tasks: to help the runner run fast enough, and to stop the runner going too fast so that they last the course. The Lord is my Pace Setter. I shall seek to run at the Lord's speed—no faster and no slower, and be guided by the Spirit as to what that pace should be.

With my prayers for a peaceful Advent and Christmas season, and a happy and healthy year ahead.

Steve

Festive Concert for Human Rights

Sunday 11th December 3PM

Friends Meeting House, Linden Rd, Bournville, B30 1JT

£8 (under 16s free)

Tickets can be bought at the door.

A festive mix of jazz music, Indian dance and choir music organised by Bournville Amnesty and Freedom from Torture. Proceeds will go to both charities.

Prayer page

Here at the beginning of Advent, the beginning of the church year and looking towards the new calendar year, we pray O come Emmanuel:

O come to a war-torn world, delivering peace and justice, turning the resources of war into resources that feed, house and clothe everyone.

O come to refugees from conflict, persecution and climate change, bringing them to places of safety and welcome.

O come to the hearts and minds of those who have plenty, inspiring them to share with people who have little.

O come to a world being destroyed in the name of profit and ever greater riches, instilling appreciation of your creation and inspiring its protection.

O come to a world of great inequality—of power, of wealth, of freedom, of security—bringing the day of Micah’s vision, when everyone can be secure in what they need for life.

O come to a world not yet free of the covid-19 pandemic, nor free of too many preventable diseases, especially diseases of poverty, giving strength to all health workers and campaigners and giving hope to those who suffer.

O come to our hearts, burning in us with your holy spirit, leading us to work always for your kingdom and to share your love with everyone around us.

Pastorate News

There will no longer be a January newsletter. The next issue will be available between late January and 1 February, so please send in news, notices and dates around the middle of January, exact date tba. Contributions are requested! Send them to the minister, Leonora Jagessar, or Cheryl Thornett at Weoley Hill.

Manse Mornings will resume Thursday 26 January at 10.30 AM.

World Cup Challenge

The World Cup has raised the profile of migrant workers and their treatment in Qatar, as well as of other minority groups. However, there has not been general coverage about the plight of nationals who wish to convert from Islam (an act which carries the death penalty, as in many Muslim states) and worship freely. Migrant workers of other religions can worship but are not allowed to evangelise.

Bible Society in the Gulf will have distributed St John's Gospel and the New Testament in 14 different languages to migrant workers and visiting football fans in November. (This will have been dependent on importation and distribution challenges having been overcome.) What an opportunity for the good News to be shared back in their own countries when workers and fans return home.

Please remember the leaders of churches and Bible Society staff in the Gulf region who will continue their work long after the World Cup hype is over.

Christmas celebrations and Christmas breaks

Some classes from Princethorpe School will be singing carols in the Sanctuary on the 5th and 9th December. Jervoise School Years 4 & 5 may also hold a Christmas concert at WCCC. The Day Centres and Lunch Clubs will finish with a Christmas Dinner on Monday 19th December, and then re start on Friday 6th January. The Parent & Toddler Group will hold their Christmas Party on 14th December and will re start on 4th January. It is likely that Warm Spaces will have a break on Friday 23rd & 30th December, and Knit & Natter will drop their stitches and conversation on 27th December.

Adult Dance Group starting soon

Mena Jones is planning to set up an Adult Dance for Health and Wellbeing Group in the New Year. This will be on a Tuesday evening while the Craft (Knit & Natter) Group operate in another room. Watch this Space!

Weoley Castle Warm Spaces

The WCCC contribution to this scheme on Fridays is particularly busy when it starts at 10 AM, with many coming for Incredible Surplus and Toys & Clothing Exchange. It continues with a smaller number until mid-afternoon with a light lunch soon after 1 PM. Many thanks to those who come along to help and/or chat. Weoley Castle Library has now joined: providing a warm space on Mondays: 10.30-12.30; also Midland MenCap (Bottetourt Rd.): Mon-Fri 11-1.

Remembrance

Remembrance artwork by all ages at Princethorpe School was exhibited in the WCCC sanctuary for parents to come and see on Thursday 10th, and it provided a backdrop for the Day Centre on 11th November, and the service on the Sunday. See a sample photo in this newsletter. Day Centre members also produced their own artwork, which was put up in the side hall.

Bournville

On 1 December at 12.30 PM we will have our Christmas lunch in the church. We look forward to getting together in the beautifully decorated church for the festive meal as well as a short act of worship after. We are happy that Ruth can join us.

6 December 10.30AM Elders meeting

Church Services:

4 December Leonora (at 3PM)

11 December Alison Geary

18 December Stuart

25 December Christmas Day Michael

Weoley Hill

We are sorry to announce the death of Jennifer Felderhof on 27 November. The celebration of her life will be here on Tuesday the 13th at 1 PM. She will be buried in Scotland.

The Thornetts have a new grandson, Felix Lin Thornett Evans, born on 5 November. Felix and mother Sarah are doing well. (Lin is a Chinese name meaning forest.)

Retiring Collections: December's collection is for Birmingham Crisis Centre and as usual, the Toy Service donations will be taken to the Crisis Centre. Please choose for a range of ages, girls and boys, and remember not to wrap your offering. Rolls of inexpensive gift wrap are very much appreciated by the staff who sort, assign and then wrap the gifts. The January collection will be for the Benevolent Fund.

Thanks to everyone who helped to decorate the church for Christmas.

We have received the letter below following our Gift Day:

I confirm receipt of the donation of £77.

I should like to thank you on behalf of Revd Steve Faber and the West Midlands Synod for the kind contribution to the Church of North India Hospital appeal

Please pass on our grateful thanks to the members of Weoley Hill United Reformed Church.

Best wishes,
